Send-off at Y. M. C. A. for Rev. Vernon W. Cooke.

There was a large audience at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening in honor of Rev. Vernon W. Cooke, who will leave soon for the front to take up war work.

The chief speaker was Ellery C. Cope, Camp General Secretary of the New London district, who related ex-periences while in the different camps and how the how recorded to called and how the boys responded to relig-ious work. Mr. Cope talked from per-sonal experience, and was heartily ap-and how the boys responded to religious work. Mr. Cope talked from personal experience, and was heartily applicated.

Secretary Elmendorf then introduced Rev. Vernon W. Cooke, in whose honor the party was arranged, also told of the fine work the Y. M. C. A. is doing and asked that all present back the local organization that the work may go on. As to the reason why he decided to go into the work, he said that his blood boiled when America declared war on Germany and would have gone to work then, as well as when he was in France, when war was first declared, but he had obligations in this country that he had to carry out. Styging was enjoyed, George Hickey ling at the plano. Popular songs were sung by Roy Howlette and James Stria and Charles Casewell also gave sevical vocal solos. Coffee and deughnuts were served.

The engine company was called ou

Windham was defeated at Manchester, the first of the season only by a grand rush on Manchester's part in the final half, so the local boys expect the cup this time, if they have as good support as at the last game.

The Manchester team has an extra fast lineup, Crockett and R. Finnigan forwards, Ballseiper center, and Lundin and R. Finnigan at guards.

As a preliminary the Y. M. C. A Independents will battle with the Tigers, both teams composed chiefly of High School boys.

After the same dancing will be enjoyed.

Wood Piles Conspicuous.

Cords of wood piled high in front of business places and residences are pretty good proof that Baltic residents have resorted to wood to keep furnaces and stoves going. One farmer who owns a large woodlot in Sprague will not deliver a cord of wood for less than $10. Some owners of wood lots in the town of Franklin were hauling wood to town for $9 per cord. One Baltic man who has business in different portions of the village counted 197 cords of uncut wood Thursday. This is but a small per cent. of numerous other cords being daily burned by different establishments and householders.

There were 102 births, 45 marriages and 67 deaths in the town of Stafford during the year 1917.
